To Isser Harel, - Mossad Head Chief

Please find enclosed a detailed dossier about the whereabouts of Otto Adolf Eichmann, a.k.a. Ricardo Klemenk. It is presumed that he is presently residing in Buenos Aires, Argentina, working at the Mercedes Benz factory. It is imperative that Israel bring this man to justice for being the man behind the "Final Solution" - see biography.

I have also included a tentative capture plan and immediate extradition back to the Holy Land so that he can stand trial. I have listed the agents who I feel are best suited to this kind of secret operation. I implore you to please go to Prime Minister Ben-Gurion to seek his approval for this Mossad operation.

I wait anxiously for your reply in this matter.

Senior Mossad Agent - יהונתן/יונתן!

Membership in criminal organization, genocide and crimes against humanity.

Family History:

Otto Adolf Eichmann was born on March 19, 1906 in the town of Soligenen, into a middle-class Protestant family. His father was Adolf Karl Eichmann, a bookkeeper. His mother's name was Maria, a housewife. Otto Eichmann was the oldest of five children. In 1913, the family moved to Linz, Austria, where his father worked as commercial manager for the Linz Tramway and Electrical Company. Eichmann attended school in Linz and as a teenager he attended the Kaiser Franz Joseph Staatsoberrealschule. He was not good at school and his father withdrew him from the academic stream and enrolled him in an apprentice school called the Höhere Bundeslehranstalt für Elektrotechnik, Maschinenbau und Hochbau, a vocational college. Eichmann left the school without obtaining a degree and ended up working for his father at the Untersberg Mining Company. From 1925 to 1927, Eichmann worked as a sales clerk for the Oberösterreichische Elektrobau AG radio company. Between 1927 and 1933, Eichmann worked in Upper Austria and Salzburg as district agent for the Vacuum Oil Company. During this time, Eichman joined the youth section of Hermann Hiltl's right-wing veteran's movement, and began reading Nazi Party newspapers and books and other literature.

Position during WWII:

Adolf Eichmann joined the Nazi party on April 1, 1932, member number 889,895 and not long after, he joined the SS (Schutzataffel). His member rank was 45326, and he was assigned to SS Regiment Standarte 37. Sometime during September 1934, Eichman was transferred to a more powerful branch of the SS, where he assimilated information regarding the Jewish people. He frequented many Jewish areas in the city, learning about their culture and lifestyle. This noted "dedication" resulted in his earning the nickname "Jewish Specialist," within the ranks of his Regiment. Eichmann's efforts garnered the attention of the high-ranking Heinrich Himler, who assigned Eichman to research possible solutions to what members of the Reich called a “Jewish problem.” Following the Annexation of Austria, Eichman was sent to establish a Central Office for Jewish Emigration, designed in part, to respond to and exploit the desperation of the more affluent Jews trying to flee the country. Many Jews gave up all their possessions in return for safe passage out of the country. In 1939, Eichman was appointed to the the Gestapo Section IV B4, part of the RSHA (The Reich Main Security Office), which made him responsible for implementing Nazi rules towards the Jewish people in all occupied areas. In July 1940, the “Madagascar Plan” was proposed, which would have deported all European Jews to the island of Madagascar. This plan was deemed “impractical,” mostly because of the physical distance between Germany and Madagascar, and was never pursued further or implemented. Following the annexation of Poland under Eichman and Himler’s direct orders, the Nazis started to round up Jews and resettled them in ghettos and forced-labour camps. Upon starting Operation Barbarossa under Eichmann’s supervision, Einsatz groups rounded up, documented, and murdered an estimated 300,000 Jews within the Soviet-occupied territory. Eichmann’s method of executing Jews during this time seemed simple. He ordered the SS units to round up all the Jews in an area, place them in an open pit and shoot them there. As straightforward as it sounded, this method had a severe, unforeseen and debilitating psychological impact on the soldiers who acted on these orders. After Eichman and Himler had toured some areas where these mass executions were carried out, the pair left feeling “disgusted,” and recognized that their own soldiers were suffering with what the famous German psychiatrist Freud referred to as “war neuroses,” a term used to describe deep psychological disturbance. Considering the needs of their own soldiers, the pair decided that a "better solution" was needed, but remarkably, stopping orders for mass-executions was never considered; only removing their soldiers as much as possible from being first-hand witnesses during these executions. In January 1942, Eichman and Himler organized the Wannsee Conference in Berlin, where 15 Nazi bureaucrats came up with the "Final Solution for the Jewish People." This "final solution" was a declaration of genocide against the Jewish people of Europe. While it is believed that Eichmann never personally participated in the direct killing of any Jewish persons himself, he was deemed to be the mastermind behind the plan that resulted in the killing of 90% of Polish Jews, and two-thirds of the total Jewish population of Europe.

Near the end of the war, Eichmann escaped the Russians who were invading Budapest. On December 24, 1944 he fled to Berlin where he aided in the destruction of incriminating documents from his department. As the war came to an end in May 8, 1945, Eichmann moved to Austria with his family.

After the war, many high ranking members of the Nazi party were arrested and tried for warcrimes. Eichmann was eventually captured by US forces under the name "Otto Eckmann." Knowing that his true identity would soon be discovered, Eichmann escaped the prison camp and made himself a new identity under the name "Otto Heninge." He moved frequently, but eventually settled in Lüneburg Heath, remaining there until 1950. Eichmann disappeared in May, 1950 and has not been seen since. Eichmann's wife and three children, who were living in Germany, have not been seen since 1953. Vera's mother told a policeman that she has remarried and moved to America. This statement is false as there is no documentation in America stating she had emigrated to the United States.

Lieber Parteigenosse Luther!

Als Anlage übersende ich das Protokoll über die am 20.1.1942 stattgefundene Absprache. Da nunmehr erfreulicherweise die Grundlinie hinsichtlich der praktischen Durchführung der Endlösung der Judenfrage festgelegt ist und seitens der hieran beteiligten Stellen völlige Übereinstimmung herrscht, darf ich Sie bitten, Ihren Sachbearbeiter zwecks Fertigstellung der vom Reichsmarschall gewünschten Vorlage, in der die organisatorischen, technischen und materiellen Voraussetzungen zur praktischen Inangriffnahme der Lösungsarbeiten aufgezeigt werden sollen, zu den hierfür notwendigen Detailbesprechungen abzustellen.

Die erste Besprechung dieser Art beabsichtige ich am 6. März 1942, 10.30 Uhr, in Berlin, Kurfürstenstrasse 116, abhalten zu lassen. Ich darf Sie bitten, Ihren Sachbearbeiter zu veranlassen, sich dieserhalb mit meinem zuständigen Referenten, dem 4-Obersturmbannführer E i c h m a n n, ins Benehmen zu setzen.

Nuremberg trial quotes incriminating eichmann

Dieter Wisliceny -member of the Schutzstaffel (SS), and a key executioner in the final phase of the Holocaust

Eichmann told me that the words "final solution" meant the biological extermination of the Jewish race... I was so much impressed with this document which gave Eichmann authority to kill millions of people that I said at the time, "May God forbid that our enemies should ever do anything similar to the German people." He replied, "Don't be sentimental – this is a Führer order." I realized at that time that the order was a death warrant for millions of people and that the power to execute this order was in Eichmann's hands, subject to approval of Heydrich and later, Kaltenbrunner. The program of extermination was already under way, and continued until late 1944. — SS-Hauptsturmführer Dieter Wisliceny, International Military Tribunal at Nuremberg, 3 January 1946.^[1]

Copy of letter from Lothar Herman to Fritz Bauer (Frankfurt prosecutor overseeing war crimes trial in Frankfurt).

April, 1957

Dear Mr. Bauer,

I write this letter to you with utmost urgency to inform you that Otto Adolf Eichman has taken up residency in Buenos Aires, Argentina. My daughter Sylvia Hermann is presently dating Eichmann's son, Nick Eichmann. Sylvia has told me that Nick has stated that his father had served "Germany well as a high-level Wehrmacht officer who had moved his family around Europe, including a stay in Poland. And that the Jews should have been annihilated (Bascomb, 2009). Nick is very secretive about his family. Even though Sylvia and him have been seeing each other now for many months, she has never been invited to his house. They write to each other through a mutual friend as she has never been given his address. Mr. Bauer, I implore you to look into this situation as I believe that Adolf Eichmann is living with his wife and sons, right under our noses here in Argentina.

Sincerely,

Lothar Herman

Operation Finale

Purpose of Operation: To capture Otto Adolf Eichmann alive and bring him to Israel to stand trial for War Crimes committed against the Jewish people during World War II.

When: March, April and May 1960

Where: San Fernando, Buenos Aires

Agents required: 11

Avraham Shalom

Shalom Dani - forger

Moshe Tabor - technical operations

Zvi Aharoni - knows the area well, and is excellent as an interrogator

Yaakov Gat

Peter Malkin - expert in disguises

Ephraim Ilani - know Buenos Aires extremely well and is fluent in Spanish

Dr. Maurice Kaplan - to ensure that Eichmann stays physically well and will sedate him for the returning flight

10 Sayanim (Jewish volunteers who are available to assist Mossad agents with surveillance, transport, safe house etc.).

Others: Luba Volk - secure flight documents

Safe House Location:

Require at least 5 safe houses in Buenos Aires. Located in the suburbs on the map.

14

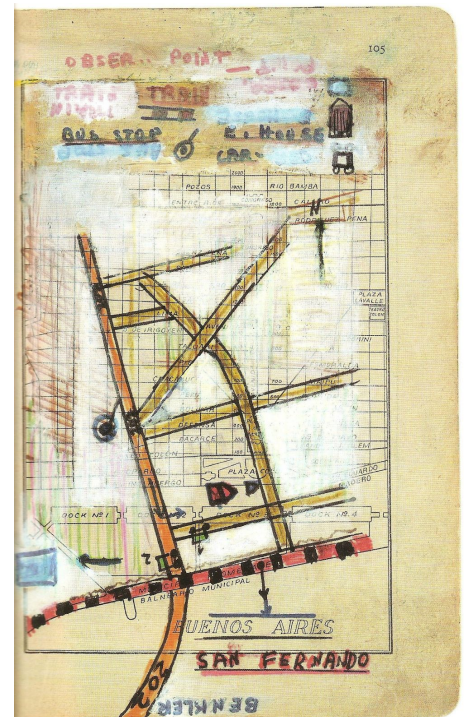

Steps to Operation

- ❖ Get clear confirmation that Riccardo Klemment is in fact, Otto Adolf Eichman – send two agents to surveil his house. The road is open and land is flat, ensure operatives are hidden.

- ❖ Establish a travel agent in a European country to provide all the travel documents, visas and health certificates needed for the operation. This will keep Israel out of the public eye. It is important to note that Israel would be violating Argentinian sovereignty by kidnapping Eichmann and taking him out of the country. Also, the Argentinian government has many Germans who are sympathetic to the Nazi cause, and they will make things very difficult if they were informed that Israel is wanting to capture Eichmann.

- ❖ Agents can enter Argentina under the guise of wanting to join in the celebration of Argentina's 150th anniversary. While in Argentina, it is important to have numerous safe houses arranged and to change cars often so as to avoid drawing suspicion.
- ❖ Gain a timeline of Eichmann's daily routine and the routine of his family and friends.
- ❖ Pick a suitable time to apprehend Eichman. The apprehension must be quick and should be at nightfall or sometime in the night.
- ❖ Upon detaining Eichman, you are to tie his hands and feet together and put on special goggles that restrict his vision.
- ❖ Travel undetected back to a safehouse.

- ❖ Upon arriving at safehouse, search Eichmann for poison – pay attention to his teeth to ensure he does not have a cyanide capsule.
- ❖ Interrogate Eichmann to have him admit his true identity. He is not to be manhandled or physically hurt in any way.
- ❖ Prep Eichmann for travel, you will have an EI-AI airlines uniform for each member of your team and Eichman to blend in. Ensure that Eichmann is sedated. He still needs to be mobile, but he should not be able to speak.
- ❖ Take Eichman to Israel where he will be handed off to other Mossad agents and brought to trial for crimes against humanity.
